FOOTBALL BARBECUE

The "Starlighters" football team, Pat Tatum, and Joanne Holladay, will sing. The Glades Championship trophy will be presented by Belle Glade Lions Club president N. Ray Whitlock to the football team, which this year defeated both Belle Glade and Pahokee teams.
In this season's trophy for the Bill Young Memorial Trophy, contested for by Belle Glade and Pahokee teams only, the Belle Glade Rams retained the trophy.

FASTER FREIGHT

Monday will continue with loading on Tuesday, Friday, and Saturday, with trucks and loadings on the same four days of each week thereafter during the season, except that the service will not be operated during the week of Dec. 21-27 nor on Monday, Dec. 29.

Somewhat similar service was operated during a portion of the 1947-48 shipping season, but then was discontinued because effective Dec. 15 will give shippers about three hours additional loading time at points of origin, with the same market deliveries at destinations as afforded by the 1947-48 service.

The third-morning delivery service is being inaugurated on an experimental basis at the request of shippers and receivers, and will be continued only if customer justifies it.

The present fourth-morning schedules from Florida to eastern markets will continue in addition to the new, faster service.

NOT ENOUGH TURKEY TO GO ROUND TUESDAY

The Methodists are sorry they ran out of turkey at their annual turkey dinner on Tuesday night, but according to Mrs. M. M. Sabiston, W. S. C. S. president, the ladies expected to serve only 300 or so; they actually served 425, and were forced to turn away still others because the food didn't last.

Mrs. Herbert Beck, general chairman in charge of the arrangements; Mrs. G. R. Townsend, in charge of the bazaar; which preceded the dinner; and Mrs. C. E. Maynard, ad their thanks to the public for its "marvelous patronage." Rev. E. L. Holladay joined in the general thank-you which meant that the dinner was a huge success.

THEY GET CIGARETTES MONEY AND TACKLE BOX

Breaking and entering boys were occupied this week, according to police reports.
On Monday night, they broke into the back door of the Dixie Bar and Cafe, but apparently took nothing.

Also on Monday, Charles T. Brown, Jr., SR 80, broke into five cartons of cigarettes were reported missing.

Tuesday, sometime after 1:30 a. m., thieves broke a window at The Bend restaurant, stole an undisclosed amount of money and a maroon metal fishing tackle box.

B.P.W. CLUB WILL WRAP GIFTS FOR YOUNG GIRL

Members of the B.P.W. will gather at the Edgewater next Tuesday night at 7:30 for a Christmas dinner meeting. Members planning to attend should make reservations with Mrs. Mary Wall by tomorrow afternoon.

Each member is asked to bring a gift suitable for a young girl in the club is interested and who is now away at school. These gifts will be wrapped following the dinner.

A wife has a perfect right to four castor oil in her husband's whiskey, according to the Kentucky Court of Appeals, because "it is a wife's right to try to reform her husband."

Everglades Vocational High

Chapel Program

On Wednesday, Dec. 3, 1952, the Student Council organization sponsored a chapel program.

The subject of this program was to help the students understand and to get a further knowledge of ways to better our school.

The Council conducted panel discussions on the following topics:

Cooperation, Mary Thompson; Consideration for property and pride in school, Berdell Davis; Personal pride, Eartha Williams and Francis Savall; School Spirit, Christine McCona; Respect for Authority, Bernice Williams.

Talk On Jerusalem

Students of Everglades Vocational High School were privileged last Friday to listen to Jack Montaganigan, International Y.M.C.A. secretary of Palestine (Jordan), who is in America on an International Y.M.C.A. Traveling Folkways.

He showed very interesting pictures, with a film strip machine, of buildings in Jerusalem and gave a brief talk.

N.F.A. Meet

The new Farmers of America Chapter of Everglades Vocational High School held its regular meetings Thursday, Dec. 4, in the Agriculture class room.

The local advisor outlined a program that he wants the chapter to carry out during the last advisory period of this semester.

The major project this semester period is to train participants for the local team of three members which will represent the chapter in a contest among forty-two other local chapters of the state.

Several members of the chapter were able to acquaint themselves with the handling of a Ford tractor and plow last week.

Several acres of land were prepared in the chapter's demonstration plot, to plant added vegetables in this area. The chapter now has one acre of string beans three weeks old, one acre of peppers planted in the field, and several small plots of variety vegetables in other locations.

The hog project of the chapter is improving satisfactorily. Two more sows have been bred and will farrow during the month of January.

One objective of the chapter is to get each member assigned to at least two productive enterprise projects and two or more improvement projects.

NEGRO BOY SCOUT FUND NAMED IN HONOR OF AN OLDTIME CAMP TENANT. Ben Davis moved into the Okeechobee Migratory Labor Camp soon after its opening eleven years ago. His children grew up there and moved away as they found interests elsewhere.

Ben continued on his way as an agricultural worker and was always reputed to have considerable savings "locked" away somewhere. When he died late in the summer his children dutifully came from distant places to see that he was buried fittingly.

Manager Jim Wirego and employee of the Camp knew that Ben was a steady tenant always paying his rent on time and joining in the community activities. It was assumed that his children had been the recipients of whatever worldly goods Ben left.

Director Emmett Roberts of the Housing Authority received a letter from the Industrial Commission stating that the Belle Glade Housing Authority was named by Ben as legatee and that there is $49.50 coming to the Authority. The Directors, at their regular meeting Tuesday night, voted unanimously to give the fund already in existence for Boy Scout activities, the name Ben Davis Boy Scout Fund and put Ben's $49.50 in the pot.

The fund, heretofore, has been used to pay the expenses of a Boy Scout from the Project to the National Jamboree. Camp authorities feel that Ben's action reflects the opinion of other tenants of Camp Okeechobee and appreciate this recognition of the administration of the Camp.

DRAWING ROCKING CHAIR MONEY AND WORKING TOO DRAWS TIME IN CLINK

For claiming unemployment compensation benefits for weeks when he was employed by the City of Clewiston, Nathan Jackson of Route 2, Box 75-A, Clewiston, was sentenced by Judge R. M. Harris to 30 days in jail, a fine plus court costs, and full restitution to the Unemployment Compensation Fund of $80.00 overpayment. The case was referred to the court by Mr. Harry P. Johnson, Prosecutor, Attorney of Hendry and Glades Counties.

Claude Scott, field representative of the Florida Industrial Commission, said that similar cases of men working and filing unemployment compensation claims at the same time are being vigorously prosecuted throughout the state. As a result, he said, improper claims during the past three years have been reduced to less than one-half of one percent of total benefits paid.

Arthur M. Larrimore, Manager of the Belle Glade office of the Florida State Employment Service stated that his organization is constantly alert for improper unemployment compensation claims and is ready to carry out prompt investigation. He made it clear, however, that although intensive study shows that volume of improper claims is relatively small, all such claims are investigated and penalized.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH COMBINED CHOIR OFFERS CANTATA WEDNESDAY NIGHT

The combined choirs of the First Baptist Church of more than fifty voices will present the cantata entitled "The Music Of Christmas" by Ira B. Wilson at the church on Wednesday evening, December 17 at 8 p.m.

The choral selections will be directed by Miss Marion Najar, assisted by Mrs. William Thiebaud. Mrs. Z. T. Ingram, organist and Mrs. W. C. Bamford, pianist, will accompany the choir. Mrs. Ralph Kirk in charge of decorations and arrangements will follow the spirit of the ocean in flower arrangements.

"Progress has been made," said Mrs. Bamford, "in our education program of musicians, particularly in the primary and teenage groups, and we feel that this offering to the public will demonstrate a most interesting accomplishment to musicians and the general public."

Everyone is invited to attend.

WEEKS ON HONOR ROLL OF BAPTIST COLLEGE

Donald Weeks, son of Mrs. Josephine G. Farmer, Belle Glade, was one of five to make first honor roll at Clarke Memorial College, Newton, Mississippi for the first term beginning September 2 through November 5.

According to his mother, Mr. Weeks left here August 20 to attend the Baptist college where he is studying, his mother says, "to prepare himself for full-time Christian service."

ALCOHOLICS CAN RECOVER

(At the request of the local secretary, Alcoholics Anonymous, we are printing the "Twelve Steps" by which an alcoholic finds and makes himself sober and rehabilitates himself. The steps have been called a "series of the rules for sober living." Steps 1-4 have already been published in previous issues.)

NINTH STEP

Made direct amends to such people wherever possible, except when to do so would injure them or others.

THESE TWO steps are in such direct relation to each other it is simpler to discuss them as one.

It is at this point that we begin the physical act of rehabilitation. Here is something physical that we can do. It is where we clean up the book of our lives and start a brand new ledger.

Our debts are of two kinds, the physical and the moral. A very satisfactory way to square accounts is to take a piece of paper and list your debts.

As you square accounts check off each one. It is a comforting process to watch the list grow smaller and smaller until it disappears. This is not an easy step. We would prefer to forget the past and its debts. But as long as we owe them, they are impossible to forget. They come back to haunt us. And an alcoholic who does not get his debts paid will be haunted by the past.

So we set about paying back our physical debts. There are those long-neglected bar bills that have driven us from some of our favorite haunts. There is the doctor, and the butcher, and the baker, and the friend who loaned us money. There is the vase we broke on a drunken party at a friend's home. Perhaps our financial condition does not permit us to clean up our debts all at once. Do not hesitate to pay a dollar here and a dollar there. It is remarkable how soon they are cleared up, and we find we have gained new friends and perhaps a bank or other financial institution will lump all your debts together and pay them off, taking your note. By all means pay off this note as rapidly as possible.

It is not so easy with the moral debts. Some of these we can never repay. There is your employer who has given you a chance after chance—many more than you actually deserved. It would be well to let him know, not only by word but by deed that you are doing something to solve your drinking problem. He will be skeptical at first, perhaps, but he is going to admire you more and more as time passes.

There are your friends whom you have let down. A few apologies are in order here. There are those you have maligned, ridiculed, or slandered. As you make amends you will find yourself increasing in strength and stature.

Finally there are your dear ones who tried so hard to love you, to help you. How many times have you broken their hearts? How many times have you disappointed them? How many times have you promised to quit drinking, only to break the promise within a few hours or a few days? How many times have you let them down in a "drunk"? And yet they have stood by you. They have nursed you back to health when the worst thing wrong with you was a bad hangover. They have paid your debts. They have protected your name and reputation. They have fought for you when you could not fight for yourself. They have put up with your lies, your subterfuges, your wanderings into extra-marital excursions, your dishonesties, your vile morning-after disposition. And they still love you.

Here is a debt that cannot be repaid by words—even though you apologize until the very moment of death. This moral debt can never even fully be repaid by deeds. But it can be reduced to a minimum. The history of AA sparkles with families reunited and happily living together. But don't expect this miracle to happen overnight. Always remember, it took you years to become an alcoholic. Full rehabilitation cannot be expected in a day or a week or a month. The road to rehabilitation is not as long as the road to alcoholism, but neither is it as tough. If you have successfully made the Sixth and Seventh Steps you will fully understand this. Always remember, easy does it. We must take care of its problems one single thing at a time. The longest journey starts with but a single step.

Do not minimize the importance of the Eighth and Ninth Steps. Without having taken them you will never be on firm ground. Having conscientiously taken them, your future is more assured.

TENTH STEP

Continued to take personal inventory and when we were wrong promptly admitted it. WE FIND in AA that after a few months of sobriety, after the alcohol is completely out of our systems, our problems are more mental than physical. It is very likely that a psychic quirk started us on our drinking careers in the first place. It has been the rule rather than the exception in AA that as long as a person thinks straight he remains sober. When he goes back to the old alcoholic way of thinking, he gets drunk.

There are certain luxuries common to the average person that an alcoholic cannot afford. He cannot afford resentment, nor self pity. He cannot afford envy nor greed. He cannot afford dishonesty of any kind. He cannot afford procrastination, putting off till tomorrow what should be done today. He cannot afford to do anything that will cause him regret or disturb his peace of mind later. And so we must keep our thinking straight and clear. We must recognize that our enemy is alcohol, and that enemy is lurking to slay us on the slightest excuse, at the slightest opening.

And so it is important that we continue to take personal inventory. Perhaps we find ourself being criticized by some other member's method of staying sober. Instead, admire him for doing a fine job, whatever his method. Perhaps you resent something a leader has said. Forget it, it will be your turn to lead before long, and you will probably offend someone yourself. Perhaps you don't think your boss is advancing you fast enough. Just how long have you deserved to be advanced? This list could be prolonged by thousands of words. But by this time you have advanced far enough in this new way of living to recognize what is good and what is harmful to you. So take time off occasionally to check up. Are you doing your best? If you are, don't worry. You are making progress.

JOBS AVAILABLE IN MANY COUNTIES

Public health nurses, stenographers, and transfer operators are needed in several parts of the state, according to an announcement from the State Merit System Office in Tallahassee. Nine counties, most of them in South Florida, are seeking public health nurses at salaries ranging from $200 to $275 per month, depending upon training and experience and location of the position. Vacancies for stenographers and transfer operators exist in Tallahassee, Jacksonville, and other cities, Jacksonville, and other places to $225 per month. Qualified persons are requested to apply at local offices of the State Employment Service, State Department of Public Welfare, and County Health Department, or directly with the State Merit System Office in Tallahassee.

VETERANS INFORMATION AND SERVICE

VETERANS URGED TO RE-INSTATE LAPSED NSLI OR LOSE IT

Did you know that 1,200,000 World War II and post-World War II veterans who have perished their NSLI term policies to lapse, must reinstate them before the 5 or 8 year terms expire during the next 14 months?

The two groups are:
1. The 1,100,000 World War II veterans who took out term NSLI policies during the last two months of 1944 and all of 1945;

2. The 100,000 World War II and post-World War II veterans who took out term NSLI policies during the last two months of 1947 and all of 1948. The difference in the length of the term is that term policies issued on or before December 31, 1945 were for 8 years, while those issued after that date shall be for 5 years. If action is taken before the present 5 or 8 year term expires, these lapsed policies may be reinstated for another 5 year term.

A physical examination is required after 3 months of lapse and the payment of only two monthly premiums is required. One of these two premiums covers the premium for the month of grace coverage after lapse and the other is for the premium month in which the application for reinstatement is submitted to the VA.

If any of you veterans in either group do not wish to lose this valuable insurance coverage altogether, you must reinstate your policies before the terms expire. Otherwise, you will not be eligible for government life insurance coverage.

EPISCOPALIANS ELECT OFFICERS FOR 1953

At a meeting of the vestry of the Episcopal Church of the Holy Nativity, held December 3 in Belle Glade, it was reported that for the first time in its history the church has met its full financial obligations, both to the diocese and the national and foreign mission program.

The following officers were chosen for confirmation by the bishop: The Vestry: O. R. Blech, Pabokee, senior warden; Thomas Bregger, Belle Glade, junior warden; G. Richard Townsend, Belle Glade, secretary; C. A.

Chase, Pabokee, treasurer; Donald R. Parke, Belle Glade; James G. Thomas, Jr., Pabokee. Lay Readers include G. Richard Townsend, C. A. Chase, Donald R. Parke, and W. D. Matthews.

An ordinary point digger (upper right) has been found very efficient in digging many roots, leaving them comparatively free of mud and on top of the ground, from where they are hauled in a box chopper (lower left) to the out late power tractor. A drag covers the area and a collector performs the work. Harvesting (bottom) is done by converted bump harrows with hand-harrows (upper left). The hand-harrows dump the tied bundles in piles to be picked up by speed loader (lower left) and place in field wagons for trip to mill.

ECONOMICAL PRODUCTION

newly acquired knowledge of ancient history and the possibilities of this fabulous fiber. Abortions of otherwise sound financial thinking on agricultural procedures, and plausible stories of one or more of the herds of long-haired inventors have brought disillusion to many participants in fiber processing. Every participant, it seems, in these major efforts that have proved a failure, became so enthusiastic over the possibilities of the undertaking that normal "straight-thru" thinking was abandoned. Nature jerked them up suddenly, after hours running into the hundreds of thousands—to the detriment of ramie fiber production. A study of each of these efforts, in the light of present day knowledge, emphasizes the abandonment of horse sense in procedures.

There are three efforts known locally that have added substantially to the present-day knowledge.

Commissioner of Agriculture Nathan Mayo injected substantial official recognition for the fiber industry when Buzz Granger at the Prison Farm planted a substantial acreage in the early forties.

Hillboro Plantation planned expanded operation, but the untimely death of its dynamic Director, Harrison Roul, halted agricultural operations. Planting, cultivation and harvest problems were made easier by Hillboro operation, limited activity in processing on a trial basis furnished valuable data.

Kruse Brothers for several years grew more than 300 acres and added definite knowledge as to types, and joined in the stabilization of agricultural practices. However, this operation demonstrated the troubles of the "little fellow" in deocorticating, drying and processing.

The only field deocorticator known to the industry to produce in quantity acceptable ramie fiber thru continuous field operation is the Niland machine operated by Mr. O. H. Bond in the Kruse's fields. The thinking of many is that a practical field deocorticator, will bring ramie fiber production to the small farmer with a central drying and degumming plant, probably cooperatively owned.

Research and studies on fibers have been conducted by the of Florida and USDA scientists covering all stages from propagation of varieties to mechanical processing.

The Everglades Experiment Station and USDA affiliates have always found in Newberry Industries, enthusiastic cooperation in determining, under field conditions, the practicability of methods of planting, fertilizing, cultivation, harvest and processing of this fiber, which is frequently referred to as "the cloth of the Pharaohs."

"Big Money" in the form of Newberry Industries, principally a chemical producer, with Jack Dempsey guiding its ramie efforts since 1940, has the "where-withal," and the intestinal fortitude to undertake the adoption of modern machinery and know-how.

The story of ramie in America today must include the name of F. E. Bryant, whose belief in ramie was unshakable enthusiasm which guided the association of U. S. Sugar and Newberry to a mutually dollar-wise effort.

"Newport," says Jack Dempsey, "removed stumps from hundreds of acres of land daily in North Florida and was able to find a crop that would grow on these marginal lands. Knowing that ramie is a 'weed' and prolific it was considered a likely crop to help build up the land and produce some salable product."

"Trial plantings in South Alabama were successful when plenty of nitrogen was applied, but Florida's virtues, as proclaimed by Mr. Bryant sounded good."

"In 1941 Mr. Bryant planted six acres and in '43 we had planted some 25 acres. Pop had planted some just east of Belle Glade; the Prison Farm had ramie and the Everglades Experiment Station had been trying it out."

"A reference to reports of these days discloses that fiber, tests, green tonnage, tensile strength, and other pertinent factors led to the recommendation that a major effort be undertaken in the Glades. The following are the reasons given in a report for this recommendation:

(1) Unlimited acreage of unfarm high nitrate and calcium content allowing growing and control of large fields from a central plant;

(2) No cultivation after crop is established; 40 percent more fiber in stalks than other areas, easier to deocorticate, and no particular difference in tensile strength.

With a field of 500 acres in 1944, and the installation of the Kruse Corona machine in 1946, some 100,000 pounds of dry fiber was harvested in '46. In '47 we baled 300,000 pounds; in '48 we harvested about 150,000 and in '49 about 800,000 pounds. In 1950 our crop turned out 1,500,000 pounds, with slightly under 2,000,000 in '51. In the '52 season which ended about Dec. 1st, we baled more than 3,000,000 pounds of our crop being first year.

Major time and money-saving practices in planting operations were evolved by Newberry in early practice roots were first turned up with plow and raked by hand into pile to be transported to a table where women cut the eye pieces into transport lengths. Approximately ten men in a crew would drop one of these pieces each 30 inches in the row, replenishing the bag from a wheelbarrow followed by the crew. Fertilizer was broadcast and diced in, or put out with fertilizer distributors in the opened row. Finally a tractor and drag was used to cover the seed roots.

It was found that a one row potato digger left the roots almost free of dirt on top of the ground, and that a chopper would produce root pieces of usable size. A six-row combination machine (shown in photo) now opens the furrow, puts out the fertilizer, six men standing on the machine drop roots in furrows and they are covered by a cultipacker on rear of the machine.

This operation goes along at a slow moving tractor pace, opening furrows, putting out fertilizer, with the men dropping the roots, and the machine covering and packing the roots in.

Harvesting formerly required hand work, with 32 men loading by hand into Alvey wagons. When the mechanical speed loaders were adapted, a crew of 24 men was required to pile the bundles of stalks ready for the loader. A bundle carrier attached to the harvesters now dumps the bundles in regularly spaced piles ready for the mechanical loaders.

These mechanical operations eliminated most of the men from the harvest crew, lessened the time and costs, and eliminated labor troubles.

Defoliation of the heavy leafy growth has been before the harvest machines being used has resulted in saving the baled weight of 18,000 tons to the plant and eliminated many stoppages of the harvesters and increased the capacity of the deocorticating from 25 to 40 percent. Defoliation is now done with a plane using chemicals at a small cost.

This is a Newberry development. Improvements in feeding stalks to the deocorticator, alterations to allow larger stalks to be fed into machine and numerous other alterations and additions have added greatly to the sum total of the hourly capacity.

Drying artificially has been substituted for air drying, and recent improvements on the factory built driers have increased capacity some 50 percent.

Automatic moisturesters to insure uniform content have been found very advantageous at Newport.

Baling is done by standard makes of balers. A great advantage in the U. S. Sugar arrangement looks for the fiber operation to use on the container.

some $350,000 worth of field equipment during the off season of the sugar operation. Fiber harvest runs from May to October, with cane harvest beginning in late October and running thru April.

Degumming of a substantial part of Newport's '52 crop has been done in the old starch mill at Clewiston for domestic markets.

With a summer time direct payroll of more than $200,000 growing each season, and with less than 20 percent of the total output running in grades 'b' and 'c' from the three crops harvested annually, this more-than-million dollar investment will gross a cool million annually.

Fifteen of these mills in the Glades which it would take to fill the boma side orders offered this year for export only, ramie fiber opens fantastic possibilities.

Two executives of textile organizations, not known to each other have stated that the potential for financial bulk in the production and processing of ramie fiber in the Glades, exceeds that of Florida's present citrus crop.

When asked about the future of the ramie market, Mr. Dempsey said: "This fiber is now being used to mix with wool, in auto upholstery, in numerous items for the military, and many more uses expected when the domestic production enables our mills to depend on a stable source."

"We have been told by executives in the textile industry of the East and the European continent that Florida ramie is the most uniform and cleanest of any purchased anywhere through the world."

The American Kenaf Corporation, which has a 3,000 acre fiber plantation east of Belle Glade is expected to expand its 380-acre ramie planting substantially in '53. Mr. Ralph Blank, vice president, states:

"We have benefited by Newberry's many innovations in field practices, harvesting and processing in both our kenaf and ramie fiber production, as all identical machinery is used in both operations."

WHETHER OR NOT THERE'S A PEARL

Here's tip from the Florida State Board of Health to those who buy oysters:

Whenever you do, be sure to look for the certification number on the container.

The Everglades Experiment Station (lower picture) has had extensive recent plots of Florida since the days of the late Mr. Bryant. The station is now doing the deocorticating and degumming of the fiber. The station is now doing the deocorticating and degumming of the fiber. reputable dealer and who looks for the certification number on the original container can have assurance she is buying safe oysters.

Gehres added that a shellfish laboratory is being operated in Apalachicola jointly by the State Board of Health and the Oyster Division of the State Board of Conservation. There, regular testing is carried out to help maintain high quality in oysters and other shellfish taken in the Apalachicola area.

The oyster season began in Apalachicola Bay September 1, but a statewide production did not get fully under way until October 1. Other production points in Florida include Crystal River in Citrus County; Papp's Bayou in Pinellas County; Spring Creek in Wakulla County, Nassau and Bay Counties.

"In spite of our efforts to assure a safe, clean product," said Gehres, "we still have a few illegal operators who may try to 'bootstrap' shellfish. This 'bootstrap' product is potentially dangerous, for such shellfish are generally taken from beds in which pollution exists. The housewife who patronizes a

DADDY AND HIS LITTLE GIRL

(With school children on the streets again, the following points a valuable lesson. It is worth reading . . . and keeping. It is regretted that the author is unknown; otherwise, he would be given credit.)

Today my daughter, who is 7 years old, started to school as usual. She wore a dark blue dress with a white collar. She had on black shoes and wore blue gloves. Her cocker spaniel, whose name is Cook, sat on the front porch and whined his canine belief in the folly of education as she waved goodbye and started off to the hall of learning.

Tonight we talked about school. She told me about the girl who sits in front of her, the girl with yellow curls, and the boy across the aisle who makes funny faces. She told me about her teacher, who has eyes in the back of her head, and the tree in the school yard, and about the big girl who doesn't believe in Santa Claus. We talked about a lot of things — tremendously I can't be with her all the time; vital, unimportant things, and then we studied spelling, reading, arithmetic — and then bed.

She's back there now — back in the nursery sound asleep, with "Princess Elizabeth" (that's her doll) cuddled in her right arm.

You wouldn't hurt her, would you? You see, I'm her daddy. When her doll is broken or her finger is cut or her head gets bumped, I can fix it — but when she starts to school, when she walks across the street, when she's in your hands.

She's a nice kid. She can run like a deer and dart about like a chipmunk. She likes to ride horses and swim and hike with me on Sunday afternoons. But she's a child. She has to have to work to pay for her clothes and her education. So please help me look out for her. Please drive slowly past the schools — and please remember that children run from behind parked cars.

SOCK ON HEAD ALTERS BEAUTY

"You wouldn't dream how a nylon stocking could change the man's head could change his appearance," said Lions Club member Emmett Roberts this week, discussing the fun the Lions had at their semi-annual Ladies night last Friday at the Country Club.

Seems there was a "beauty" contest at this shindig, with visiting Rotarian president N. T. Taylor walking off with the prize for "beauty." Other participants in the contest — all of whom were stockings on their heads during the judging — included E. M. Lively, Benny Richmond, Junius Harris, Francis Harris, and N. Ray Whitlock. Mr. Roberts described the lucky party as a "good old-fashioned family party highly informed, with music by the Ellis band almost reminiscent of Charleston days 25 years ago."

Vernie Boots was in charge of arrangements for the affair, which included a buffet supper, billiards games, directed by Miss Marian Najarian; trombone selections by H. V. Draa, Jr.; and Ben Rider acting as master of ceremonies. N. T. Taylor, special guest of the evening, acted as Lions "Tail Twister," collecting fines for the Salvation Army Christmas fund. Prizes for "jacketed" costumes went to Mrs. E. M. Lively, who wore a gingham dress, rolled stockings, a molasses rabbit fur piece, and a wide-brimmed straw hat; and to Herman Close, whose conglomeration of patched blue jeans and quilted shirt drew equal acclaim.

MRS. MARTHA FREEMAN IS O.E.S. WORTHY MATRON

Mrs. Martha Freeman was elected worthy matron of the Belle Glade Order of Eastern Star at a recent meeting. Others elected to serve with her for the coming year include J. K. Baker, worthy patron; Mrs. Abess Cherry, associate matron; Joe Cherry, associate patron; Mrs. Sally Stein, secretary; Mrs. Mary Wall, treasurer; Mrs. Louise Zumpf, conductress; Mrs. Winnie Roberts, associate conductress.

The refreshments committee consisting entirely of men included J. K. Baker, Dr. Warren N. Stoner, C. E. Maynard and William Graber.

Jeannette C. Pennington of Craven Chapter 129, New Bern, N. C. was a visitor.

At the next meeting scheduled for Dec. 18 a Christmas party will be held.

"The country editor is one of the mainstays of our way of life," Harry Bruno, president, Jr., and Ben Rider acting as master of ceremonies. N. T. Taylor, special guest of the evening, acted as Lions "Tail Twister," collecting fines for the Sal-deal of comfort out of George's report which follows:

"Really sorry to learn today of your sorry luck with the ducks. They seem to have a way of feeding us gunners and giving us the laugh. My son and I were out last Sunday and didn't fire a gun, just spent the afternoon riding around in our boat looking for ducks. They seem to have moved on south. Hope they will come back or some more will come down as I would like to get in a good shoot, and a duck dinner. But the fishing is good now and they have been catching some bass over on the ocean beach. When the ducks come back or down I will let you know." This is signed by George Ford, owner, Titusville Hardware, and a man who lives for hunting and fishing alone.

So I will plan to do some duck shooting on Okeechobee. In the good old days we usually had good duck shooting on Okeechobee after Christmas. In recent years I have done my duck hunting elsewhere. It will be good to try Okeechobee's marshes again.

By Herb Mosher

JUNO BEACH and Belle Glade are very closely tied together as far as I am concerned. Take for instance the day that Pop Lord put a crate of fancy yellow sweetcorn in my car in the early afternoon, after which I drove over to Juno, put the corn in the refrigerator, grabbed a couple of surf rods (and a can filled with sand) standing nearby, and went down on the beach, take in hand.

Pompano bite-best as a rule in the late afternoon, but on this occasion it was only between 4 and 5 o'clock when I made the first cast. Soon I had a pompano bite! The fish was a big one and after a good tug-of-war I had him on the beach. Almost immediately the second rod, thrust into the soft beach sand, began to jump about. Another pompano! And another big one, too.

Well sir, enough is enough and I never believe in hogging anything, including game or fish. So I picked up the two beautiful pompano, walked up the beach to the cottage — and soon had the most delicious dinner in Florida (that day ready!) Consisting mostly of broiled pompano and golden sweetcorn with plenty of butter. The pompano, incidentally, weighed between 4 and 5 pounds apiece, — large for pompano.

That was a memorable day. However, there have been many similar, for I've spent a great deal of time in and around Belle Glade and also at Juno Beach. Some day I'll write a whole column about Juno Beach, the characters there, the good fishing, the wonderful ocean, the golden sunlight, the balmy sea breezes. And another about Belle Glade and the lake section which has its own particular beauty, plus the friendliest and best people that I know of anywhere.

MERRITT ISLAND is the second best place for duck hunting in peninsular Florida. Lake Okeechobee is best. Anyhow, I've been hunting ducks a lot over on Merritt's Island ever since the season started. Not much luck. Not many ducks. Some days — not even a duck to shoot at. So now, this week (Dec. 7-14) comes a special duck hunting report from George Ford, of Titusville. George is one of Florida's expert hunters and fishermen. I got a good

SEVENTH DAY
WELFARE WORK

The annual Harvest In Gathering of the Seventh Day Adventist Church is now underway and will continue until Christmas.

Christmas.

The money obtained is sent to the General Conference at Orlando where it is distributed to home and foreign missions, and is used for welfare activities.

In 1951 a total of $5,582,322.66 in cash was spent on welfare work in the United States with 1,830,723 persons receiving help and a total of 2,974,941 hours being donated by workers in the church.

The Seventh Day Adventist maintain an educational and medical center which houses eight professional schools. The College of Medical Evangelists has over 600 students and includes schools in nursing, medicine, nutrition, physical therapy, X-ray and laboratory technique. A school of dentistry is still in the formative stage.

Several Thanksgiving baskets were given to the needy by the local church with the Dorcas Society of Women serving as distributors. Clothing where needed was also included.

Individuals wishing to contribute to this worthy cause may do so by contacting the pastor Mr. Floyd Buchmiller at phone 2455.

Mrs. Smith watched incredulously as the trapeze artist, still hanging by his toes and swinging, arched his back and forced his head through his legs. Mrs. Smith rose to her feet with mouth agape as the performer reached behind his back with one hand and drew forth a violin and reached behind his back with the other hand and drew forth a bow.

As the flying trapeze man swung 100 feet about the audience, hanging on by his toes, he began playing a tune on his fiddle behind his back.

"Oh John!" exclaimed Mrs. Smith. "Isn't he wonderful!"

Smith shrugged and grinned. "He ain't no Helletz."

Magic rabbit to her little girl. "A magician pulled you out of a hat—now stop asking questions!"

A city boy visiting a ranch decided he'd like to ride, but soon found himself sprawling in the dust. "Boy, how that horse can buck!" he exclaimed.

"Buck!" snorted a cowboy. "he only coughed."

The Glades
Groundhog Says

A man finally bought a parrot at an auction after some spirited bidding. "I suppose the bird talks," he said to the auctioneer.

"Talk?" was the reply. "He's been bidding against you for the past half hour."

Boy: "One more kiss, darling." Girl: "We won't have time. Father will be home in an hour."

Love is woman's eternal spring and man's eternal fall. When a man is wrapped up in himself he makes a small package.

The best thing to do with older clothes is to take 'em off at night and put 'em on in the morning.

Mable: "I nearly fainted when the boy I was out with last night asked for a kiss."

Homer: "Baby, you're gonna die when you hear what I have to say."

Smith took his wife to the circus, and the man on the flying trapeze, high above the crowd, hung precariously by his toes as he swung through the air.

ALTAR SOCIETY PLANS
CHILDREN'S PARTY

Mrs. Ted Roman was appointed chairman of a committee to carry out the plans for a children's Christmas party sponsored by St. Philip's Altar Society for the children of the church, at Tuesday night's meeting of the society. She will select other members to work with her on the project.

Mrs. E. R. McCabe presided at the meeting which was opened with a prayer by the Rev. Fr. James Keogh.

Reports were heard from Mrs. J. N. Paff on the success of the recent Silver Tea and from Mrs. R. Cameron on last Saturday's rummage sale.

Mrs. William Gressinger and Mrs. Bob Gressinger were welcomed as new members.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. McCabe and Mrs. John Tabit to Mrs. Charles Fontaine, Mrs. Paff, Mrs. Roman, Miss Bana Rodriguez, Mrs. J. A. Pike, Mrs. David Quessell, Mrs. Grace Wilson, Mrs. Cameron, Mrs. Bob Gressinger, Mrs. William Gressinger, Mrs. Carl Lockmiller and Mrs. Doris Muller.

As everyone recognizes, the policies of the incoming Administration will to a large extent determine the type of tax program which the Congress will have to adopt but there are a great many detailed aspects of any new tax legislation upon which the Congress will have to act. Congress can make an imprint. There are two aspects to the tax program which have a major impact upon the American home owner. The first is the mortgage interest deduction and I will introduce legislation 1) to make it possible for a working mother to charge as much as $10,000 for nursing and similar homemaking costs which are peculiar to the independent working mother; and 2) to revise the formula for deduction from the cost of some medical expenses. I do not think the present percentage formula gives a fair and proper deduction for the unusual costs which women have.

station agent, will hold Open House at her new home in West Palm Beach Saturday, December 20 from 3 to 5 o'clock.

The program consisted of a technical film of Dole Pineapple Company shown by Mrs. Mary Waters. It depicted the many ways in which pineapple could be served on the menu.

The feature of the meeting was the Christmas party and gift exchange at the close of the business session. Mrs. Evans assisted by Mrs. Waters and Mrs. Davis served Heavenly Hash and Angel-food cake to Mrs. Gertrude Willis, Mrs. Mary Louise Dalrymple, Mrs. Laura Willis, Mrs. Eva Lee Miller, Mrs. Mattie Miller, Mrs. Jack Parker, Mrs. Beadie Smith, Mrs. Madeline Roberts, Mrs. Billie Hartline, Mrs. Mollie Coyle, Sharon Roberts, Harry Dalrymple, Joan Willis, John Evans, Peyton and Clayton Smith.
